When his daughter and pastor son in law are murdered, Jack Johnsons fragile peace is shattered. Raised in poverty, Jack builds his farm into one of the most prosperous in Sullivan County, Indiana. Jack is financially secure; nevertheless, his soul is in turmoil. He blames God for the accidental death of his five-year-old son, Ricky. Now with the murder of his daughter his anger burns at the God he believes hates him. Jack becomes more and more restless driving himself to forget about the loss of his children. Yet he cannot forget Kristys last words, Dad I love you. Jim and I will be waiting for you, mom, and Emily on Heavens shore. They are like a fish hook in his soul. His four-year old granddaughter Emily is a constant reminder of Gods love. His wife Ruth prays for her husbands salvation believing God can give him peace. As Ruth and Emily pray for Jack, he becomes more troubled. Frustrated with the slow progress the police are making Jack launches his own investigation. His actions result in the...
